

Refrigeration Certification/Contractor Registration FAQs

1. What are the Wisconsin Department of Safety and Professional Services' licensing requirements for a contractor installing ammonia and freon refrigeration equipment?

A: There is no refrigeration exam required. Contractors installing refrigeration equipment that serves HVAC equipment are required to obtain an Industry Services Division HVAC Contractor registration. See SPS 305.70.

Each service technician handling ozone depleting refrigerants is required to have an EPA-608 certification.